

An Open Letter from the West Basin Municipal Water District and Your Water Providers

To the communities we serve,

Despite these difficult and challenging times, West Basin Municipal Water District and its nine retail water providers continue to deliver safe, high-quality and reliable water supplies to local homes and businesses, just as we've done for nearly 75 years.

Tap water is safe.

The drinking water delivered to your home goes through state-of-the-art, advanced treatment processes that remove and kill viruses, including coronaviruses, as well as bacteria and other pathogens.

There is plenty of water.

Southern California has an extensive distribution, storage and treatment system to ensure continued deliveries even during a disruption. And, the reservoirs where your water comes from are at some of the highest levels ever.

Water deliveries are reliable.

Water providers are going to great lengths to protect the health and safety of our workforce. Essential treatment plants, laboratories and other facilities continue to be staffed by skilled and dedicated men and women who provide the vital services that keep our systems running.

Be assured that West Basin and your local water providers are working together, combining our significant resources and talents, to maintain critical services to the communities we serve.

Sincerely,
